

IAS

THE INSTITUTE FOR ANALYTICAL SOCIOLOGY

RESEARCH SYMPOSIUM
SPRING 2024

Day 1

Day 2

09.20-10.30

Etienne Ollion

Erik Liss

10.30-11.00 FIKA

11.00-12.30

Måns Magnusson

Elis Carlberg Larsson

Marc Keuschnigg

12.30-13.30 LUNCH

13.30-14.30

Kazuki Sakamoto

Martin Arvidsson

14.30

Group discussions and collecting our best insights on publication strategies

15.00-15.30 FIKA

16.00-16.30

Group discussions and collecting our best insights on publication strategies

Spa booked between 16.45-18.15

Kubb game @17.00 for those who want to play (if the weather allows)

19.00 DINNER

Billiards/shuffleboard play after dinner for those who want to

08.45-10.15

Károly Takács

Jesper Lindmarker

Johan Koskinen

10.15-10.45 FIKA

10.45-12.15

Carl Nordlund

Hendrik Erz

Pontus Strimling

12.15-13.15 LUNCH

13.15-14.15

Eduardo Tapia

Selcan Mutgan

14.15-14.45 FIKA

14.45-15.45

Erik Rosenqvist

Benjamin Jarvis

PRESENTATIONS

DAY 1

Etienne Ollion

Machine bias. LLMs have a worldview of their own

Erik Liss

Updates on ongoing research

Måns Magnusson

Bayesian aggregation of opinion polls in multi-party systems for inference and forecasting

Elis Carlberg Larsson

The rise and decline of churches: The role of social influence in the membership decline of the Swedish Lutheran church

Marc Keuschnigg

The misinformation challenge: Interventions at the individual and the collective level

Kazuki Sakamoto

Earth observation causal machine learning: Signals from a new horizon

Martin Arvidsson

Three network segregation mechanisms

DAY 2

Károly Takács

Modeling micro mechanisms in social networks

Jesper Lindmarker

Cubicle couples or just close by: Are workplace ties actually propinquity in disguise?

Johan Koskinen

Networks of Networks - What are they and are they of any use at all?

Carl Nordlund

Revising the Borgatti-Everett core-periphery model: Inter-categorical density blocks and partially connected cores

Hendrik Erz

Economic policymaking in U.S. Congress

Pontus Strimling

How everyday norms vary across societies and why

Eduardo Tapia

Neighborhoods' reputation and its effects on school and residential choices

Selcan Mutgan

TBA

Erik Rosenqvist

TBA

Benjamin Jarvis

Kin propinquity, residential mobility, and the segregation of ancestry groups in Sweden
