

Introduction week: Ethics, Science, and Policy 2025-2027

August 18

10.15-11.00 Introduction: Welcome, introduction to the program (LL). Practical information (MW). Being a student at LiU (JW). Room: KY21, Key Building.

11.15-12.00 Introduction/seminar: How to write an academic paper in a philosophical field? – see below. (LL). Room: KY21

August 20

13:15-17:00. Information from the faculty: Library, Student Health, Language Help, Student Union, Practical issues etc. Room: TBA

17:00- Pizza night at the Department. Room: TBA

August 26

12.00-13:00 Lunch seminar with catered lunch packages. Room: TBA

13.00-16 Seminar: Students' Work (LL) Room: TBA

How to write an academic paper in a philosophical field?

Students are introduced to argumentation analysis and to how to write papers in philosophical fields of study. The work is done both in class and in groups. The following seminal articles are used as examples:

Peter Singer: Famine, Affluence and Morality: <https://peeps.unet.brandeis.edu/~teuber/Singer-Famine-Affluence-and-Morality-12-10-13-20-41.pdf>

Nancy Cartwright: Are RCTs the gold standard?

<https://www.cambridge.org/core/journals/biosocieties/article/are-rcts-the-gold-standard/0A53C381EDDC6FE52EF8D5E79B2A179B>

Christine Grady: Money for research participation: does it jeopardize informed consent?

https://www.tandfonline.com/doi/abs/10.1162/152651601300169031?casa_token=tKDn-wQ7I1YAAAAA:hgWMZVGwvwiWaS7r5rdBf_B4pvE9BM_1dI1Tx16LI5DLF-nfxw4KLuj-21cLB6O1JOnViooHHsE00Q

Per Sandin et al.: Five charges against the precautionary principle

https://www.tandfonline.com/doi/abs/10.1080/13669870110073729?casa_token=w6V9636cDQwAAAAA:YOrVJSDdb4OMFuBD1U5KvXVCBZZHJByb7ldufTl3Ow9GbrdVLQnehXrHXzE_55H3LSBseH3eQ34nlw

LL = Lars Lindblom

MW=Monica Wise

JW=Jennie Wallin