

Rudeina Mkdad

PhD student

REMESO/IKOS

Linköping Universitet

Education:

- 2019-2022 Doctoral student, ethnic and migration studies, REMESO/ISV, LiU University.
- 2016- 2018 Master in Ethnic and migration studies, REMESO/ISV, LiU University.
- 2011-2012 Diploma in translation studies (English/Arabic), English language and literature department, Damascus University, Syria.
- 2007-2011 Bachelor's degree in English language and literature, English language and literature department, Damascus University, Syria.

Employment:

- 2019-2022 PhD student, REMESO/IKOS, LiU University.
- 2017-2018 Teacher assistant, REMESO/ISV, LiU University.
- 2017 Project assistant, Investigation and Development Unit, the Municipal Office, Norrköping Municipality.

Teaching experiences:

- 2020-2021 Teacher assistant, The World System in the Post-colonial Era, EMS master program, REMESO / IKOS, LiU University
- 2019-2021 Course responsible, internship, EMS master program, REMESO/ISV, LiU University.
- 2020 Guest teacher, Social and Cultural Analysis, Bachelor program
- 2019-2020 Teacher assistant, critical cases in ethnic and migration studies, EMS master program, REMESO/ISV, LiU University.
- 2016–2017 Arabic teacher, Sensus Study Association.

Academic presentations, conferences, and workshop:

- 2019 Facilitators and moderator in "#fokus på migration, lärande och social inkludering", norrköping.
- 2017 LiU participant and note taker in the conference "Towards a Global and Inclusive University Community", Stockholm.

- 2017 LiU participant in the event "Norrköping, city of migration", Norrköping municipality.
- 2017 LiU participant and note taker in the conference "Welcoming Refugees Local European", Norrköping.
- 2015 presenter, "The Haramlik: An Exploration of the Patriarchal Colonial "Self" in the Patriarchal Colonized 'Other'", Hageby Library, Norrköping.

Scholarship:

2020 Helge Ax:son Johnson scholarship for field work.