

IAS Institute for Analytical Sociology

PROGRAMME Spring 2019

The seminars are open to everyone and we very much hope to see you at one of the upcoming events.

SEMINARS

Time: 11.00-12.30, Venue: K0301

January 31

Moses Boudourides, University of Patras

Longitudinal network micro-analysis of bibliometric data of publications on "Computational Social Science" from 1999 to 2018

February 7

María Pereda, RWTH Aachen University

Machine learning analysis of networks on Euclidean hyperspherical spaces

February 21

Michael Grätz, Stockholm University

Sibling similarity in income: A life course perspective

February 28

Jani Erola, University of Turku

The importance of compensation in intergenerational attainment: Bringing findings together

March 7

Staffan I Lindberg, University of Gothenburg

Varieties of democracy (V-Dem) methods, sequences and outcomes: Has research on democracy been misguided for 60 years?

March 14

Rense Nieuwenhuis, Stockholm University

In it together? Fostering women's earnings to reduce inequality between households

March 21

Anna Rotkirch, Population Research Institute, Finland

When should I become a parent? Economic and biosocial trade-offs independently shape reproductive timing in contemporary Finland

March 28

Jesper Roine, Stockholm School of Economics

Women in the top of the income distribution: Evidence from Sweden

April 4

Tiina Ristikari, National Institute for Health and Welfare, Finland

Visualizing the dynamics of social exclusion using a register-based follow-up of the 1987 Finnish Birth Cohort

April 11

Elizabeth Bruch, University of Michigan

How and why online dating experiences differ across U.S. cities

April 25

Seok-Woo Kwon, University of Calgary

The role of generations in explaining entrepreneurship trends: Assessment of period and cohort effects

May 2

Jacob Habinek, Linköping University

How markets evolve: Collective alignment and the rise of subprime mortgage finance, 1998–2007

May 9

Richard Breen, University of Oxford

Estimating the heterogeneous effects of entry into motherhood on subjective well-being

May 16

Christopher Winship, Harvard University

To be announced

May 23

Venla Bernelius, University of Helsinki

The dynamics of drifting apart: Segregation, education and urban policies in the Helsinki Metropolitan Region

June 13

Anette Fasang, Humboldt-University Berlin & WZB Berlin Social Science Center

Life course trajectories and wealth accumulation in the United States: Comparing baby boomers and millennials